Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

The Organization's management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditors' judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of The Xerces Society, Inc. as of December 31, 2013, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

NOTE A - DESCRIPTION OF SOCIETY

The Xerces Society, Inc. (the Society) is a not-for-profit organization founded in 1971 dedicated to protecting the diversity of life through the conservation of invertebrates. The Society was named after the extinct Xerces blue butterfly (Glaucopsyche xerces). It advocates for invertebrates and their habitats by working with scientists, land managers, educators, and citizens on conservation and education projects. Its core programs focus on endangered species, native pollinators, and watershed health. Funding comes from membership dues and donations, merchandise sales, government contracts, corporate contributions, foundation grants and other program revenue.

The Society incurs program service expenses in the following major categories:

Pollinator Conservation

The Society's Pollinator Conservation Program works across the United States to educate farmers, land managers, and the public about the importance of pollinating insects and to establish habitat protection and management as keys to their conservation. It directly reaches agricultural professionals and farmers through trainings, workshops, and other outreach events across the United States. It also works to educate farmers, agency staff, and citizens on responsible pesticide use and regulation. As a result of the Society's work, native pollinators are now a key priority for agricultural conservation programs across the United States, and its efforts have led to thousands of acres of habitat improvements for these vital insects.

> Aquatic Conservation

The Society's Aquatic Conservation Program conducts applied research and provides advice and resources to scientists, land managers, and watershed stewards for monitoring the health of streams, rivers, and wetlands. It also works with watershed councils to assess the health of local watersheds and to analyze the success of restoration projects. The Society's current work includes efforts to protect dragonflies, damselflies, freshwater mussels, and other aquatic invertebrates as well as provide ecologically-sound mosquito management.

> Endangered Species

The Society's Endangered Species Program advocates on behalf of threatened, endangered, and at-risk invertebrates and their habitats and works with agency staff to provide resources and training for their conservation. Its current work includes efforts to protect endangered bumble bees, butterflies, freshwater mussels, tiger beetles and other invertebrates. The Society protects habitat on private and public lands for the most imperiled species and regularly provides resources that help land managers conserve endangered insects and other wildlife.

Other Conservation

Through the Conservation and Education Program, the Society also undertakes a variety of other activities to raise awareness and appreciation of the valuable role of invertebrates. These include publication of its magazine Wings: Essays on Invertebrate Conservation, which features the work of renowned wildlife photographers, scientists, and conservationists. The Society also provides dozens of publications for free download through its website, including guidelines to help farmers and gardeners conserve pollinators, guides to identifying endangered bumble bees, tools for monitoring stream health using aquatic insects, and many more. Another aspect of this program is the Joan M. DeWind award. Each year, two graduate or undergraduate students receive an award of $3,750 each for Lepidoptera research/conservation projects.

NOTE B - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Presentation

Net assets and all balances and transactions are presented based on the existence or absence of donor-imposed restrictions. Accordingly, the net assets and changes therein are classified and reported as follows:

- Unrestricted net assets Net assets not subject to donor-imposed stipulations.
- ➤ Temporarily restricted net assets Net assets subject to donor-imposed stipulations that will be met either by actions of the Society, and/or passage of time.

Expenses are reported as decreases in unrestricted net assets. Gains and losses on investments and other assets or liabilities are reported as increases or decreases in unrestricted net assets unless their use is restricted by explicit donor stipulation or by law. Expirations of temporary restrictions on net assets (i.e., the donor-stipulated purpose has been fulfilled and/or the stipulated time period has elapsed) are reported as net assets released from restrictions.

Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For financial statement purposes, the Society considers all highly liquid investments with a maturity date of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (CONTINUED)

December 31, 2013

Contributions

Contributions are recognized when the donor makes a promise to give to the Society that is, in substance, unconditional. Grants and contributions are reported at fair value at the date the Society is notified of receipt of a grant or pledge of a contribution. Contributions that are restricted by the donor are reported as increases in temporarily or permanently restricted net assets depending on the nature of the restrictions. When a restriction expires, temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets.

Contracts Receivable

Level 1

Receivables are recorded as the related services are provided and billed. Management periodically assesses the need for an allowance for doubtful accounts based on historical experience and existing conditions affecting probable collection. Receivables are considered impaired if unpaid balances are not received in accordance with the contractual terms. It is the Society's policy to charge off uncollectible receivables when management determines the receivable will not be collected. Management has determined that an allowance for doubtful accounts was not necessary as of December 31, 2013.

Investments and Fair Value Measurements

Investments are the only assets measured at fair value on a recurring basis. Valuation techniques used to measure fair value are prioritized into the following hierarchy:

Quoted prices in active markets for identical assets

ed from observab means such a	le market data	by correlation	n such as ap	praisa	İs or
(ed from observab	ed from observable market data r means such as calculations	ed from observable market data by correlation means such as calculations based on	ed from observable market data by correlation such as ap means such as calculations based on contractual	ed prices for similar assets in active or inactive markets, or in ed from observable market data by correlation such as appraisa means such as calculations based on contractual rates shed tables.

Level 3 Unobservable inputs that reflect management's assumptions and best estimates based on available data.

Investments in bond mutual funds and equity mutual funds are carried at fair market value based on quoted prices in active markets (Level 1 measurements) in the Statement of Financial Position. Unrealized gains and losses are included in the change in net assets in the accompanying Statement of Activities. Investments in annuity contracts are carried at the fair value determined by an insurance company (Level 3 measurements).

Inventory

The Society maintains an inventory of publications made available to the public for direct purchase and through bookstores. The publications are recorded at the lower of cost or market.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment is recorded at cost when purchased or at fair market value when donated. Depreciation is computed on the estimated useful lives of the assets using the straight-line method as follows:

Equipment 5 years
Office furniture and fixtures 5 years

The Society capitalizes depreciable assets with a value of $3,000 or more and having an anticipated life of five years or more.

Maintenance and repairs are expensed when incurred.

Concentrations of Credit Risk

Financial instruments that potentially subject the Society to concentrations of credit risk consist principally of cash and receivables.

The Society places its cash with financial institutions insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC). Amounts in excess of FDIC coverage are not insured.

The Society's grants and contracts receivable consist primarily of reimbursement requests to government agencies and are unsecured. Such receivables are generally due within 30 days. The Society has not experienced any losses on these accounts. There were no grants and contracts receivable older than 90 days as of December 31, 2013.

Income Taxes

The Society has been approved as a tax exempt organization under the Internal Revenue Code Section 501(c)(3) and applicable state laws. Accordingly, no provision for income taxes is included in the accompanying financial statements. The Society does not believe it has unrelated trade or business income in excess of $1,000.

The Society's federal exempt organization information returns are subject to examination by the Internal Revenue Service, generally for three years after they are filed.

Allocation of Functional Expenses

The costs of providing the various programs and other activities have been summarized in the Statement of Activities. Certain costs, including salaries, occupancy, equipment rental and depreciation, have been allocated among the programs and supporting services benefited.
