Join us for a morning filled with pollinators and wildlife. We have two skilled presenters lined up; Jeremy Markuson, NRCS State Biologist, who will be guiding us through turtle and bat conservation practices in Maine and Eric Venturini, Farm Bill Pollinator Conservationist and NRCS Partner Biologist with the Xerces Society for Invertebrate Conservation, who will teach us about pollinators and establishing pollinator habitat. The morning will be finished with a question and answer session and information regarding NRCS Environmental Quality Incentives Program cost-share opportunities.

Event Information

Date: November 15, 2018
Location: 254 Goddard Rd. Lewiston, ME 04240
Time: 9:00 am–11:30 am

Space is limited. Please call Androscoggin Valley Soil and Water Conservation District at 207-241-5374 to register.